

Weather Weaponry: A Move to Control the Masses

Who isn't struck by tragic images pouring out of various regions - recent hurricane damage in the Caribbean, India, and American cities like Houston and Florida? Have we seen hurricanes before? Of course, but the modern storms do seem unprecedented in both size and quality, don't they?

Could modern storms be part of a larger fulfillment of a specific time period prophesied or predicted by the Lord Jesus Christ?

And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken. (Luke 21:25-26)

What is the cause of "the sea and the waves roaring"? Perhaps we use our cars too often - surely if the world serfdom switched to bicycles, that would alleviate the crisis at hand, wouldn't it? Let us consider what can cause weather modification - however, buyer beware, our leaders in Canada are attempting to criminalize this discussion. The party line around the world is to enforce belief in Global Warming. Do you believe?

Consider a United Nations treaty which was adopted and signed in 1976-77 called Convention on the Prohibition of Military or Any Other Hostile Use of Environmental Modification Techniques. What could such a treaty be for - can weather be used as a weapon? Is weather being used as a weapon?

Adopted by Resolution 31/72 of the United Nations General Assembly on 10 December 1976.

The Convention was opened for signature at Geneva on 18 May 1977.

Convention on the Prohibition of Military or Any Other Hostile Use of Environmental Modification Techniques

The States Parties to this Convention,

Guided by the interest of consolidating peace, and wishing to contribute to the cause of halting the arms race, and of bringing about general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control, and of saving mankind from the danger of using new means of warfare,

Determined to continue negotiations with a view to achieving effective progress towards further measures in the field of disarmament,

Recognizing that scientific and technical advances may open new possibilities with respect to modification of the environment,

Recalling the Declaration of the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment, adopted at Stockholm on 16 June 1972,

Realizing that the use of environmental modification techniques for peaceful purposes could improve the interrelationship of man and nature and contribute to the preservation and improvement of the environment for the benefit of present and future generations,

Recognizing, however, that military or any other hostile use of such techniques could have effects extremely harmful to human welfare,

The 1977 treaty begs many questions, doesn't it? Well, perhaps the United Nations was just being over-protective and they anticipated the possibility for weather warfare - so the UN drafted the 1977 treaty in case any government might think to weaponize weather.

Let us consider more evidence.

One can easily peruse Stanford's course on Seismic Inducement online. According to their About Us page, the "mission of the Stanford Center for Induced and Triggered Seismicity is to conduct fundamental research on the physical processes responsible for induced and triggered seismicity, to carry out intensive case studies and to develop a scientifically-based framework for seismic risk assessment and risk management."

ABOUT US

The Stanford Center for Induced and Triggered Seismicity is an industrial affiliates program on the topic of induced and triggered earthquakes. Ten Stanford Professors in the Departments of Geophysics, Energy Resource Engineering, Earth System Science and Civil and Environmental Engineering are involved in SCITS (see People). They and their research groups are addressing a wide variety of scientific and operational issues associated with the managing the risk posed by induced and triggered earthquakes. As recognized by the recent report of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences, incidents of induced and triggered earthquakes associated with energy production have become increasingly important in the recent years.

Oh well, Stanford only focuses on simple techniques like “fracking” (hydraulic fracturing stimulation), right? They also have an interesting section called “geothermal energy production”. Consider the possibility that the earth could be artificially heated via “geothermal energy production” technology. Could any of this heating technology contribute to Global Warming?

Enter HAARP: High Frequency Active Auroral Research Program. Innovations like HAARP, sometimes referred to as “ ionospheric heaters”, have been spotted all over the world. But what do they do?

Human Activity Will Heat Alaskan Skies—Deliberately and Picturesquely

This week powerful radio waves will disturb the ionosphere to probe satellite disruptions and create strange glows

How to Predict a Alien Invasion

According to the Stanford VLF Group:

The High Frequency Active Auroral Research Program (HAARP) facility is located in Gakona, Alaska at 62.39° N, 145.15° W, near mile 11 of the Tok Cutoff Highway. The facility houses many diagnostic instruments for studying the ionosphere, but the highlight is the HF transmitter array. This array consists of 15×12 crossed dipole antennas, which together can transmit a total of 3600kW of RF power at frequencies from 2.8 - 10 MHz (HF, high frequency range).

According to research conducted from GlobalResearch.ca:

“It isn’t just conspiracy theorists who are concerned about HAARP. The European Union called the project a global concern and passed a resolution calling for more information on its health and environmental risks. Despite those concerns, officials at HAARP insist the project is nothing more sinister than a radio science research facility.”

— Quote from a TV documentary on HAARP by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC).

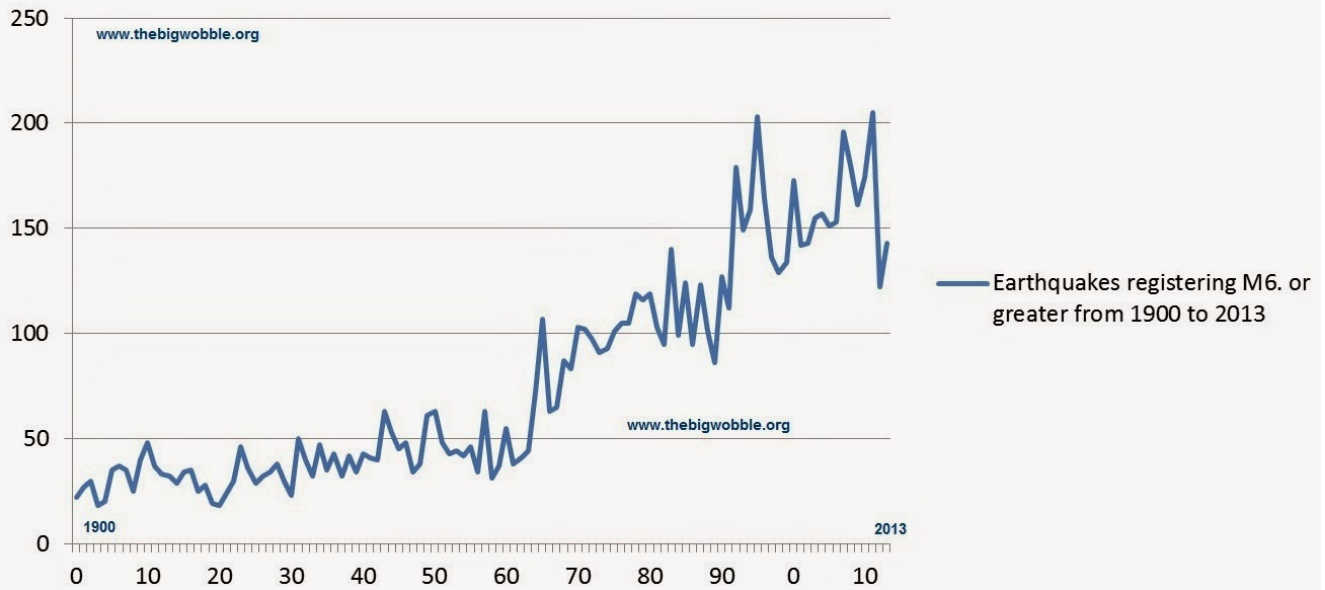

Major aspects of the program are kept secret for alleged reasons of “national security.” Yet there is no doubt that HAARP and electromagnetic weapons capable of being used in warfare do exist. According to the official HAARP website, “HAARP is a scientific endeavor aimed at studying the properties and behavior of the ionosphere, with particular emphasis on being able to understand and use it to enhance communications and surveillance systems for both civilian and defense purposes.” The ionosphere is the delicate upper layer of our atmosphere which ranges from about 30 miles (50 km) to 600 miles (1,000 km) above the surface of the Earth.

The HAARP website acknowledges that experiments are conducted which use electromagnetic frequencies to fire pulsed, directed energy beams in order to “temporarily excite a limited area of the ionosphere.” Some scientists state that purposefully disturbing this sensitive layer could have major and even disastrous consequences. Concerned HAARP researchers like Dr. Michel Chossudovsky of the University of Ottawa and Alaska’s Dr. Nick Begich (son of a US Congressman) present evidence suggesting that these disturbances can even cause tsunamis and earthquakes.

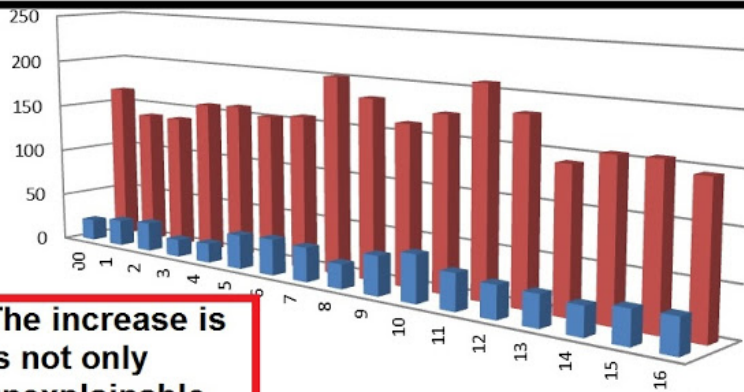

Doesn’t it seem earthquakes are increasing year over year? Researchers at The Big Wobble have analyzed USGS data, and have painstakingly provided their ominous results in graph form:

Earthquakes registering M6. or greater from 1900 to 2013

Number of quakes M6. or greater per year

Graph showing major quakes from 1900-1917
And major quakes from 2000-2017 400% increase

The increase is is not only unexplainable
but terrifying too

	1900	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16
1900-17	22	27	30	18	20	35	37	35	25	40	48	37	33	32	29	34	35
2000-17	165	139	139	158	160	153	157	201	183	162	175	208	183	142	155	156	146

Could the steep increase in earthquakes be at least partially due to ionospheric heaters like HAARP?

Consider the words of Jesus Christ regarding a time known as the “latter days” or “end times”:

For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and troubles. These are the beginnings of sorrows. (Mark 13:8)

These websites contain only a few examples for what is possible. To learn more from dedicated researchers and scientists who have poured countless hours into informing the public about weather modification techniques, go to GeoengineeringWatch.org. There you can find a treasure trove of information including over one hundred patents by number and description of weather modification innovations.

So are we in the beginning of sorrows? What does this mean for the future?

And great hail from heaven fell upon men, each hailstone about the weight of a talent. Men blasphemed God because of the plague of the hail, since that plague was exceedingly great. (Revelation 16:21)

How much is a talent? 75 pounds or 35 kilograms

We will see 75-pound hail stones. Are you ready? While God foretells the future, I believe He has allowed men to carry out their evil schemes, and God uses their innovations to judge a wayward people.

But why would men modify the weather, you may ask? That brings us to my blog's title: Weather Weaponry: A Move to Control the Masses. The end-time globalist agenda of a powerful elite are working to deceive you and me into thinking that our behavior causes climate change. Thus, we must pay a carbon tax, and eventually our travel will be controlled. As great King Solomon has said, "there is nothing new under the sun". The Soviet regime also took great pains controlling travel of men and women. And the Communist agenda is notorious for making the population poor while the rich "party members" have luxuriant wealth. The same spirits which drove the Bolsheviks in 1917 also drive the Elite in 2017.

And of course, one must consider "population control" when attempting to understand motive for weather warfare. Historian F. William Engdahl takes on population control in his latest book, Seeds of Destruction.

Population and related food policies of the US Government of the early 1970's emanated from the halls of the Rockefeller Foundation, from their Population Council and Rockefeller Brothers Fund, and from a handful of similarly well-endowed private foundations, such as the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Foundation. The true history of those organizations was carefully buried behind a facade of philanthropy. In reality, these tax-exempt foundations served as vehicles for the advancement and domination of powerful elite families at the expense of the welfare of most American citizens and of most of mankind. ¹

Eugenics was the foundation of John D. Rockefeller III's obsession with overpopulation... the Rockefeller Population Council would spend a staggering $173 million on population reduction globally, establishing itself as by far the most influential organization promoting the eugenics agenda in the world. ²

In 1904 Andrew Carnegie's Carnegie Institute had founded the major laboratory at Cold Spring Harbor, the Eugenics Record Office on wealthy Long Island, outside New York City, where millions of index cards on the bloodlines of ordinary Americans were gathered, to plan for the possible removal of entire bloodlines deemed inferior. The land for the institute was donated by railroad magnate, E. H. Harriman, a firm supporter of eugenics. This was eugenics, American elite style...

The aim of the index card project was to map the inferior blood-lines and subject them to lifelong segregation and sterilization to "kill their bloodlines". The sponsors were out to eliminate those they deemed "unfit". As early as 1911, Carnegie was funding an American Breeder's Association study on the "Best Practical Means for Cutting off the Defective Germ-Plasm in the Human Population." ³

These foundations which sponsored countless population control think-tanks, whitepapers and associations are tax-exempt. Carnegie gives his reasoning, which speaks volumes as to the personal arrogance of many elite figures in modern history:

"Wealth passing through the hands of the few can be made a much more potent force for the elevation of our race (sic) than if distributed in small sums to the people themselves." ⁴

This sense of entitlement likely resides within many of the world's most powerful people. However, a warning echoes through the ages to Carnegie and all others who yield their souls to narcissism: For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul? (Matthew 16:26)

So what do elite ideas about population control have to do with weather weaponry? They reveal an alternative explanation for the 400% increase in earthquakes since the year 1900 (seismic inducement?), massive hurricanes which hover on ground for days, and tornadoes which stay in place for hours - highly unusual behavior.

But would men really create weather to kill millions of innocent people? Consider how the Elite dealt with Puerto Rico:

The Rockefellers had long regarded Puerto Rico as a convenient human laboratory. In 1931, the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, later renamed the Rockefeller University financed the cancer experiments of Dr. Cornelius Rhoads in Puerto Rico. Rhodes was no ordinary scientist. It later came out that Rhoads had deliberately infected his subjects with cancer cells to see what would happen. Eight of his subjects died. According to pathologist Cornelius Rhoads, "Puerto Ricans are beyond doubt the dirtiest, laziest, most degenerate and thievish race of men ever inhabiting this sphere. What the island needs is not public health work but a tidal wave or something to totally exterminate the population. I have done my best to further the process of extermination by killing off 8..." Initially written in a confidential letter to a fellow researcher, Rhoads boast of killing Puerto Ricans appeared in Time magazine in February 1932 after Pedro Albizu Campos, leader of the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party, gained possession of the letter and publicized its contents.

Rather than being tried for murder, the Rockefeller Institute scientist was asked to establish the US Army Biological Warfare facilities in Maryland, Utah and also Panama, and was later named to the US Atomic Energy Commission, where radiation experiments were secretly conducted on prisoners, hospital patients and US soldiers.⁵

How could this injustice prevail? Nelson Rockefeller was named 1st Assistant Secretary of State for American Republic Affairs in the Roosevelt Administration, and Under Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the Eisenhower Administration. The “Shadow Government” elite joined the “Deep State” — and the “Health” and “Welfare” Department, no less.

John D. Rockefeller III also joined the fray in Puerto Rico:

JDR III made Puerto Rico into a huge laboratory to test his ideas on mass population control beginning in the 1950’s. By 1965, an estimated 35% of Puerto Rico’s women of child-bearing age had been permanently sterilized, according to a study made that year by the island’s Public Health Department. The Rockefeller’s Population Council, and the US Government Department of Health, Education and Welfare — where brother Nelson was Under Secretary — packaged the sterilization campaign. They used the spurious argument that it would protect women’s health and stabilize incomes if there were fewer mouths to feed. ⁶

For most Americans and for most of the world, the idea that leading policy circles of the United States Government, acting on the behest of some of the wealthiest families and most influential universities, would deliberately promote the mass covert sterilization of entire population groups was too far-fetched to accept. ⁷

Is it a far leap to think that if weather weapons exist, prompting the UN to write a treaty in 1977, that the halls of power we have seen in the past would gladly harness the power of nature to destroy whole states and even nations to their sadistic and satanic ends? I think not.

The Lord has not been taken by surprise. The culmination of wickedness in the latter days was foretold, and the Ancient of Days had an answer before the world realized it had a problem:

Why do the nations rage,
And the people plot a vain thing?
The kings of the earth set themselves,
And the rulers take counsel together,
Against the Lord and against His Anointed, saying,
“Let us break Their bonds in pieces
And cast away Their cords from us.”
He who sits in the heavens shall laugh;

The Lord shall hold them in derision.
Then He shall speak to them in His wrath,
And distress them in His deep displeasure:
“Yet I have set My King
On My holy hill of Zion.”
“I will declare the decree:
The Lord has said to Me,
‘You are My Son,
Today I have begotten You.
Ask of Me, and I will give You
The nations for Your inheritance,
And the ends of the earth for Your possession.
You shall break them with a rod of iron;
You shall dash them to pieces like a potter’s vessel.’” (Psalms 2:1-9)

About the end times the first warning Jesus gave was, “take heed that no one deceives you.” (Matthew 24:4b)

The only thing worse than living through 75-pound hailstones is to enter eternity without Jesus Christ. Repent today, and be saved. Receive the Lord’s finished work of suffering and death on a Roman cross so that you can be saved from your sins. Tell Jesus, “Lord, I know you are calling me, and I know that I am a sinner. Save me from my sins and I will live for you from this day forward.”

We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain. For he saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succoured thee: behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation. (2 Corinthians 6:1-2)

Perhaps I will be the first Canadian criminal who will stand against the tyranny of Global Warming enforcement. Jesus said, “And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.” (John 8:32). Were I to be jailed for preaching truth this day, I would be paradoxically, the most free. Jesus also said, “He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal.” (John 12:25) My passions are not for this fleeting moment, but for the eternal life to come. And I want to take you with me. What do you believe?
